

Social Policy Officer

Base: Shoreditch

Salary: £18,963 - £25,000 per annum plus pension

Hours: Full-time 37.5 hours per week.

RAD Legal Services consists of a Solicitor and five Caseworkers who provide specialist advice to Deaf people in their preferred language, and offer legal advice and support in the areas of immigration, welfare benefits, housing, employment, debt, discrimination, tribunals and accessing services.

We have recently received funding from the Equality and Human Rights Commission for a Social Policy Officer to provide support to RAD in social policy and strategy development and implementation. This involves extensive liaison with partners within the social policy consultation network including a range of both statutory and voluntary groups, interviewing clients on relevant social policy issues, producing reports, and facilitating the inclusion of deaf people in forums, consultations and events.

This is a new opportunity for a Social Policy Officer to join our friendly and highly committed team. The post is integral to the delivery of a wide range of social strategies and policies and demonstrates RAD's commitment to partnership working.

Preferably educated to degree level you will be a good team player and excellent at getting your message across. You should have relevant experience in either the public or voluntary sector which demonstrates you understand the complexities of social policy and can network effectively to achieve.

For an informal discussion about the post, please contact Dave Shields. More information about RAD Legal Services can be found at <http://www.radlegalservices.org.uk/>.
